Treatment 1

Pro C peel followed by Microdermabrasion.

The I-absorbic acid (vitamin C) within the Pro C peel acts as a gentle exfoliant.

This combination of peel and Microdermabrasion refines the pores, smoothes the superficial skin layers and dramatically enhances the penetration of the home care products.

Treatment 2

Pro C peel and SLC 24.

The strength of the peel has been increased by the addition of an SLC 24 peel containing Salicylic, Lactic and Citric acid. These acids penetrate gently into the skin and encourage proliferation of new cell growth with stimulation of collagen and elastin production.

Treatment 3

Microdermabrasion.

The gentle abrasion and suction effect of Microdermabrasion was used to exfoliate and smooth the superficial layers. The mechanical effects of this treatment further stimulate collagen production and enhance epidermal thickness.

Treatment 4

Pro C peel, SLC 24 x 2 layers followed by Microdermabrasion.

With the addition of a second layer of SLC 24, the peel effect has been gently increased to further enhance the proliferative effect of the treatment.

Treatment 5

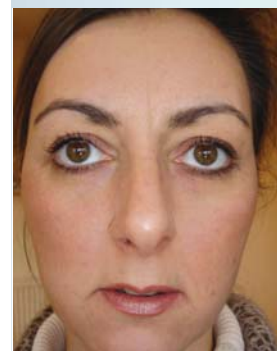

Pro C peel, SLC 40 followed by Microdermabrasion.

The treatment regime has been further increased with the addition of the SLC 40 peel. This more penetrative peel descends into deeper layers of the skin and helps to remodel collagen and elastin structures.

Treatment 6

Pro C peel, SLC 40 x 2 layers, followed by Microdermabrasion.

The Agera® Rx peel regime has been gradually increased, allowing for deeper stimulation in a progressive and phased manner. This provides continuing improvement in the skin without significant downtime or alteration to the client's lifestyle.

Client's Comments:

"I've been using the Agera® Rx skincare range for two months now, which has really improved the texture of my skin and it feels fresher. My skin tone is much better after having the combined treatments and skincare range. I originally had the treatment to get rid of dark spots which appeared all over my face, due to sun damage. I'm really pleased with the results; Agera® Rx has made a remarkable difference."

Agera® Rx has now become an automatic part of my day. In the past I had to cover up my skin with makeup to make it look smoother, but I no longer have to rely on makeup and I am much happier with my skin."
